NC4 Announces Agreement to Acquire TranSecur

Combined Company to Provide Unmatched Global Information and Travel Risk Management Services

EL SEGUNDO, CA – September 18, 2009 – NC4, Inc., the leader in Situational Readiness solutions for incident monitoring, crisis management, and secure collaboration, announced today its agreement to acquire TranSecur, the nation’s oldest continually operated provider of global security information and industry-leader in travel risk management. The acquisition will strengthen NC4’s position as the leading provider of accurate, timely and secure information.

Earlier this year, NC4 partnered with TranSecur to bring a new layer of situational awareness to customers. The first phase of the technology integration was the inclusion of TranSecur’s Country Risk Ratings map in NC4’s External Situational Awareness (ESA), providing members a quick visual reference to each country’s risk status. TranSecur’s comprehensive risk analysis of more than 200 countries combined with NC4’s unique geo-relevancy technology that allows customers to create profiles to receive alerts only for incidents that have potential impact, makes ESA the most comprehensive and timely all-hazards events alerting service available in the marketplace today.

“In the early stages of our partnership, the seamlessness of the joint technology solution quickly became clear,” said Noel Koch, President and CEO of TranSecur. “The complementarities of our offerings and the similarities of our corporate cultures brought us all to the conclusion that a closer association would benefit our companies and our customers.”

Collaboration efforts have also focused on a travel risk management offering that combines intelligence on global all-hazards incidents with detailed employee travel data, to heighten an organization’s overall situational awareness and readiness to respond to risks. This new travel risk management offering will be announced and demonstrated at the ASIS International 55th Annual Seminar and Exhibits.

“This acquisition will help NC4 provide customers with a broader range of Situational Readiness solutions”, said NC4 President Jim Montagnino. “It will also benefit TranSecur customers by giving them integrated access to NC4’s unparalleled incident monitoring and management offerings. As we move forward with our acquisition of TranSecur, we will maintain the identity, rigorous analytical processes and operating principles on which both companies are founded.”

ASIS Demonstration

NC4 will demonstrate its new travel management solution September 21-24 in Anaheim, CA at the ASIS International 55th Annual Seminar and Exhibits. The ASIS event gives security professionals the opportunity to tap into the industry’s most competent resources to contend with today’s security challenges. NC4 representatives will be available during exhibit hours at booth #2283 for demonstrations.

About TranSecur
